

Class Day

It took some time for rowing to become established at the University of Washington. The students organized the UW Amateur Rowing Association in January 1901. During the spring 1901, the students rowed in the first Inter-Class Race. The class of 1904 defeated the class of 1903. The form and name of this regatta has changed over the years. The women competed in "Junior Day" as early as 1907.

Today the Inter-Class Regatta is known as Class Day. This race kicks off the racing spring season each year and affords the winners shellhouse bragging rights. The Men compete for the George M. Varnell Trophy presented in 1930. In the modern era the Women race for the Seattle Times Trophy presented in 1982.

Men's Junior Varsity Eight

Washington's junior varsity eight series with California dates back to 1939, with UW winning 40 of 62 races. There were no races between 1943-46. The Huskies' longest win streak was five from 1971-75 and again from 1940-48. UW has won 14 of the past 23 races, including three-straight before Cal won last year's dual meeting.

Men's Freshman Eight

Washington's freshman eight series with California dates back to 1939, with Washington winning 50 of 63 races. There were no races from 1944 through 1946. The Huskies' longest win streak was 15 consecutive from 1966 through 1980.

Women's Junior Varsity Eight

Washington's junior varsity eight series with California dates back to 1975, with Washington winning 25 of 30 races. There was no JV eight race in 1983 or 1995. Cal won in 2004, snapping an 11-race UW win streak that was the Huskies' longest in the series. California has never won back-to-back races. The UW has won two straight, giving the Huskies 21 victories in the past 23 meetings.

Women's Novice Eight

Washington's novice eight series with California dates back to 1977, with Washington winning 20 of 29 races. The Huskies' longest win streak was 11 straight from 1990-2001. The UW has won 17 of the past 23 races, including a string of 11 straight that Cal halted in 2002. That was Cal's first win since 1989. The novice boats did not race in 1999 but resumed the series in 2000. The Huskies were victorious in 2004, while the Bears have won the last two years.

Windermere Cup / Opening Day

Washington hosts an elite international field of competitors each year for the Windermere Cup/Opening Day races on Montlake Cut. The annual event is without a doubt one of the premier regattas in the sport of rowing. Competing crews enjoy spectacular racing and festivities that culminate in one of the most-watched events in the sport.

The feature races' sponsorship by Windermere Real Estate, Inc., which began in 1987, draws major national and international crews each year to the Windermere Cup Races. The Opening Day Regatta has been a traditional part of the opening of yachting season since 1970, and women's intercollegiate races were added to the schedule in 1976. The regatta is the preliminary event to the annual yacht club parade, signaling the beginning of boating season in the Northwest.

Tie-up moorage is available on both sides of Montlake

Cut, extending out from the Cut toward the start line of the race in Lake Washington, providing an ideal setting for spectators to view both the regatta and the parade of yachts that follows. Thousands of watersport enthusiasts have lined the Cut in recent years to witness first-hand one of the most exciting sporting events in the region — the Windermere Cup Races and Opening Day activities.

The Windermere Cup is held in conjunction with Opening Day of yachting season. Boats line the race course for the crew races and the Seattle Yacht Club's annual boat parade.

Race day attracts thousands of spectators along the Montlake Cut and Bridge. Crews from Australia, Belarus, Czech Republic, Italy, China, Poland, the Soviet Union and New Zealand, among others, have visited over the years.

The Croatian men's team won the 2001 Windermere Cup with the same crew that won bronze at the 2000 Olympic Games

Men's National Championships

The Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta (IRA) is the oldest collegiate rowing championship in the country, and remains the premier event for national rowing honors for college men. The first IRA Regatta, on June 24, 1895, was a four-miler between Columbia, the winner, Cornell and Pennsylvania.

The regatta has grown from that single race in 1895 to include championship competition in eight, four and pair-oared competition at the varsity, second varsity and freshmen levels for both men and women.

The rowing championship is conducted by the Intercollegiate Rowing Association that was organized at the beginning of the century. It consists of five eastern, traditional rowing schools, the original three schools, Columbia, Cornell and Pennsylvania, plus Navy and Syracuse. To this day, the Association is comprised of only these five schools and all other colleges participate as invited guests.

Much of the history of the IRA tends to focus on the great crews of Cornell, Navy, Washington and California and their coaches who established impressive winning records at the old regattas at Poughkeepsie and Lake Onondaga.

In 1923, Washington, coached by "Rusty" Callow, became the first Western school to win the IRA, followed by another victory in 1926. When Callow left Seattle to coach at Pennsylvania, he was succeeded by his assistant Al Ulbrickson who continued the Husky winning ways with six IRA titles in 1936, 1937, 1940, 1941 and 1948 and 1950. His freshman, jayvee and varsity crews "swept the river" in 1936, 1937, 1948 and 1950.

After competing in the national championships held annually on Lake Harsha in Cincinnati between 1983 and 1994, the UW returned to the IRA for its 100th anniversary in 1995. In 1997, the Huskies swept top honors in the three feature races for the first time since 1950.

Varsity Challenge Cup

Presented to the IRA by Dr. Louis L. Seaman, (Cornell) in 1898, the silver cup goes annually to the college crew winning the Varsity race. Washington (left) won the 1997 race. The Challenge Cup victory was the 11th title overall in the history of the Washington program, dating back to its first victory in 1923.

Kennedy Challenge Cup Trophy

This trophy was originally presented to the IRA in 1899 by Davidson Kennedy (Pennsylvania) to four-oared winners. The trophy is now annually awarded to the winner of the junior varsity race. Washington (right) won the Kennedy Challenge Cup in 2004 and again in 2005. It was the Huskies' 11th and 12th all-time victories in Kennedy Cup competition.

Stewards Cup

The Stewards Cup, presented in 1900 to the IRA by Francis S. Banks (Columbia), goes to the Freshmen Eight champion. Washington won back-to-back Stewards Cup titles in 2001 and 2002. A gold medal in 2006 pushes its all-time total to 13.

Women's National Championships

The first women's collegiate championship was held in Oak Ridge, Tenn. in 1980. UW is one of only three teams to be invited to all 10 NCAA Championships. The Huskies won their first varsity eight title in 1981, the first of an unprecedented five-straight varsity championships. Washington won back-to-back NCAA team titles in 1997 and 1998, including the first-ever in 1997. UW captured the 1980 lightweight eight and lightweight four titles. The race length for women was doubled in 1985 from 1,000 to 2,000 meters.

Washington's three NCAA Women's Rowing Championship trophies.

Huskies at Henley (Men)

The 2003 Henley Ladies Challenge Plate trophy.

"The Henley Royal Regatta is undoubtedly the best known regatta in the world and it holds a unique place in the respect and affection of all oarsmen. Founded in 1839, it is famous both as a great sporting and social event. People travel from all over the world to attend, either as competitors or as spectators. Winning an event at Henley has always been considered one of the greatest achievements of an oarsman's rowing career, even amongst those who have become world champions; and an oarsman's rowing life is not complete if he has not rowed at Henley.

"Unlike all other major international regattas, racing at Henley is on a knock-out basis, with crews rowing two abreast over a course which is one mile, 550 yards (2,122 meters) long. Naturally, the tactics in such races are different from racing six abreast; but oarsmen who row almost all their serious races six abreast over 2,000-meter courses have found that the variety of racing at Henley adds greatly to the interest and enjoyment of their regatta season."

—Henley Royal Regatta

Washington made its first appearance at Henley in 1958, with coach Al Ulbrickson, and lost to a crew from the Soviet Union in the final of the Grand Challenge Cup. Soviet rowing officials invited UW for a rematch in Moscow, where the Huskies won.

It was another 15 years before Washington returned to Henley, this time with coach Dick Erickson. The Huskies again lost to the Soviet eight in the 1973 Grand Challenge.

In 1977, Erickson brought the Huskies back to Henley and Washington became the first U.S. crew in 18 years to win the Grand Challenge when it beat the British national crew by a length.

They made other trips with the junior varsity winning the Ladies Plate in both 1978 and 1981.

In recent years, coach Bob Ernst has taken UW crews to Henley in 1991, '95, '97 and 2003. The '97 varsity and junior varsity went to Henley on the heels of an IRA Championship that completed undefeated seasons for both crews.

The varsity entered in the Ladies Plate, and advanced to the grand final with victories over Australia's Melbourne University in the first heat and Oxford's Isis Boat Club in the semi-finals. They provided a thrilling

Washington christened a brand new boat at the Royal Regatta in 1997, an Empacher eight-oared shell that was delivered to Henley just prior to the Huskies' arrival in London. The $30,000 state-of-the-art racing shell, which was donated by an anonymous UW benefactor, is named The 101 in honor of the Seattle-based amateur sports booster organization, The 101 Club. The shell is nearly identical to the boat the Husky varsity races in the United States. The 101 is stored at Jesus College in Cambridge and used exclusively by Washington teams training and racing in future Henley Regattas.

Husky coach Bob Ernst carried special cargo with him to Henley, a plastic bottle of finish line water from Montlake Cut, to christen the new boat. Former Seattle police chief Patrick Fitzsimmons, who represented The 101 Club, christened the new shell by pouring the home course water over the bow of the boat.

race for spectators in the grand final, the closest match of the regatta, before losing to the British National Lightweight crew by one foot.

The Huskies' junior varsity advanced to the quarterfinals before finally falling to the Goldie Crew, made of Cambridge University rowers in the Temple Challenge Cup.

In 2003, UW's varsity eight captured the Ladies Challenge Plate with an open-water victory over Rutgers. The Huskies defeated Moseley Boat Club/Imperial College of London in the semifinals following a quarterfinal triumph over Nottingham & Union/London Rowing Club. UW's varsity four advanced to the Britannia Challenge Cup quarterfinals.

CREW HISTORY

EXPERIENCE

Huskies at Henley (Women)

For the first time ever, Washington sent a women's varsity eight crew to compete at the Henley Royal Regatta in Henley-on-Thames, England in July, 2000.

This year marked the introduction of a women's open eight race in the historical men's regatta. Racing took place July 1-2 with eight crews competing for the inaugural Henley Prize. In December 1999, the Henley Stewards decided to elevate the two-year old women's invitational race, that had been established to showcase international crews, to a full-fledged open-class prize event.

During the previous two regattas, there has been a four-boat women's exhibition race, by invitational only, for national teams. The year 2000 marked the first time the field had been opened to include eight women's boats. The women's race consisted of quarter-finals, semi-finals and a grande final for the Henley Prize.

In the historic first appearance, Washington wrote its name in the history books as it defeated the University of Victoria (Canada) in the grand final to capture the Henley Prize, the first women's trophy awarded since the historic men's regatta began in 1839.

The Huskies covered the 2,112-meter Thames River course in a time of 7 minutes, 29 seconds, crossing the finish line half a boat-length ahead of Victoria. The crews traded the lead all the way down the course and kept it only one foot apart over the last quarter of the race before the Huskies gradually began to break away towards the finish.

"This was an awesome race," said Husky head coach Jan Harville after the race. "It's interesting how they keep splits here. At each marker on the course, signs go up saying who's ahead. We were ahead at the first mark by a foot. Then at the second marker, Victoria was ahead by a foot and then we went up again. I told our crew that Victoria had a fast boat and we would have to take the race away from them. We did it in the last 500 meters of the race. I am so proud that our crew could end its season this way. It was a tremendous opportunity to be here and represent the University of Washington."

Huskies Row Down Under in The Great Race

The Washington men racing in the Great Race

The history of Washington rowing added another international chapter this fall when a men's eight competed in The Great Race in New Zealand.

Each year a foreign crew is invited to compete against Waikato in a spectacular event that is televised throughout New Zealand. Previous Great Race visitors included English crews from Cambridge and Oxford.

The athletes from UW traveling to New Zealand were Toby Dankbaar, Drew Fowler, Steve Full, Rob Gibson, Dustin Kraus, Tad McCrea, Kiel Petersen, Craig Tyler, Adam Van Winkle and coxswain Mary Katherine Langlais.

"It's a unique race and really a big deal in New Zealand," Husky coach Bob Ernst explained. "The course is different than we are used to, but it's still rowing."

The powerful Waikato University men's crew, featuring five New Zealand national team members, defeated the visiting Washington eight on Sept. 11, 2005 on the Waikato River.

The Kiwi crew included Nathan Twaddle who rowed in the winning pair at the 2005 world championships. Waikato took an early lead on the 4,800-meter (nearly 3-mile) course and sustained it throughout the race.

A crowd estimated at 20,000 lined the banks, watching the crews navigate up river against a strong cross-current.

The Huskies had won the indoor ergometer competition two days earlier, surprising the more experienced Waikato rowers.

"It was significant, actually," Great Race director Rob Hamill said of the Kiwi victory. "They are a slick outfit. Washington beat everyone in the indoor competition the other night and every year the team that has won on the machines have gone on to win on the river, so we were very nervous."

Shell Dedication -- Spirit of '58

On May 6, 2005, members of the enshrined UW Hall of Fame crew of 1958 that defeated a Soviet crew in Moscow attended the dedication of a new shell named "Spirit of '58."

In a ceremony outside the Conibear Shellhouse, water from the Montlake Cut finish line was poured on the bow of the new Pocock shell by Phil Kiebertz, a member of the '58 crew. His son, Jim, bought the shell for UW as a Christmas gift for his father.

Kiebertz was joined at the ceremony by coxswain John Bissett, captain Chuck Alm, stroke John Sayre and Lou Gellerman.

The 1958 boat that beat the Russians also included the late Dick Erickson, who coached the UW varsity from 1968 to 1987. Erickson died in 2001. Other members of the 1958 crew were Andy Hovland, Roger MacDonald and Bob Svendsen.

That legendary Husky crew traveled to England for the Royal Henley Regatta. The Huskies fell victim to the Leningrad Trud Rowing Club of the Soviet Union in their attempt to win the Grand Challenge Cup, losing by 1-1/2 boat lengths over the 1-mile, 550-yard course.

The Huskies challenged the Soviets to a rematch in Moscow where they gained their revenge.

Washington won the Moscow Cup, beating the Leningrad Trud crew by 1-3/4 lengths on the 2,000-meter Khimkinskoe Reservoir course on July 19, 1958.

The UW eight was the first foreign team to compete behind the Iron Curtain. Legendary broadcaster Keith Jackson, then the sports director at Seattle's KOMO Radio, called the action for first sports broadcast from the Soviet Union back to the West.
