WASHINGTON vs. AIR FORCE

Willingham Era Opens "On the Road" at Qwest Field

THE GAME: The Washington football team opens the 2005 season, its first under new head coach Tyrone Willingham, this Saturday, September 3, against Air Force at Qwest Field, home of the Seattle Seahawks. Kickoff for the game is scheduled for 12:30 p.m. and it will air live on ABC-TV to a regional audience. After the Air Force game, the Huskies remain at home for the rest of the month of September, playing host to California, Idaho and Notre Dame. The UW's first road trip comes Oct. 1 when the Huskies face UCLA at the Rose Bowl.

HUSKIES vs. FALCONS HISTORY: Air Force has a 6-2 record in eight games all time against Washington, a record that includes two Air Force victories over top-10-ranked Husky teams. The bulk of the Air Force-Washington series came in the 1960s, when the two teams played four times in a five-year stretch. The Falcons upset 10th-ranked UW 10-7 in the first meeting in 1963, a season-opening game in Colorado Springs. Washington took a 7-3 lead on a 90-yard kickoff return from Steve Bramwell in the first quarter. However, with 1:34 left in the game, Terry Isaacson scored from six yards out to give the Falcons the win. The following season in Seattle, No. 7 UW lost, 3-2, in another season opener. The Falcons made a first-quarter field goal hold up as the Huskies' only points came on a fourth-quarter safety which Air Force took on purpose to kill the clock. Junior Coffey gained 140 yards for the UW, but couldn't get into the endzone. After a year off, the Falcons returned to Montlake in 1966, beating the UW, 10-0 as the Huskies managed only 124 yards of offense and turned the ball over five times. Washington finally got its first win in the series in 1967, a 30-7 victory at Air Force. In that '67 win, Husky QB Tom Manke threw for 202 yards and one touchdown and ran for 91 yards and another score. In 1980, the Falcons and Dawgs once again squared off in a season opener as 19th-ranked Washington won easily, 50-7, rushing for 257 yards and six touchdowns while passing for 335 yards and one score. On the game's third play, fullback Willie Rosborough took a pass from Tom Flick and went 84 yards for a score, the longest pass play in Husky history at the time. Toussaint Tyler rushed for 89 yards and three TDs and Flick threw for 316 yards. The last two meetings came in a span of only three games. In the 1998 Oahu Bowl in Honolulu, the Falcons handled the Huskies, 45-25, in the final game of Coach Jim Lambright's tenure. The Falcons rushed for 232 yards and threw for 267 behind QB Blane Morgan. Then, in the second game of the 1999 season, Air Force dropped the Huskies to 0-2 on the season with a 31-21 win at Husky Stadium. Scotty McKay rushed for 106 yards and quarterback Cale Bonds scored three times on the ground to lead the visitors. Braxton Cleman rushed for 100 yards for the UW and Marques Tuiasosopo was held to 195 yards, three interceptions and no touchdowns on 20-for-44 passing.

WILLINGHAM ERA SET TO BEGIN AT HOME ON THE ROAD: Washington opens the 2005 season with its first game under new head coach Tyrone Willingham in a "road game" that will be played only a few miles from Husky Stadium. The Dawgs' opener against Air Force will be played Sept. 3 at Qwest Field, home of the Seattle Seahawks, after the Falcons' home game was moved from Colorado Springs. The Huskies will play as the road team despite the fact that the distance between Husky Stadium and Qwest Field is about six miles while Falcon Stadium is about 1,400 miles away. Willingham, who previously served as head coach at Stanford (1995-2001) and Notre Dame (2002-2004), is the third Husky coach in the last four seasons and the fifth UW head man in the last 13 years. In his 10 total seasons as a head coach, Willingham has compiled a 65-51-1 overall record.

TELEVISION: The Washington-Air Force game will air live on ABC-TV to a regional audience with Dave Lamont, Tom Ramsey and Mark Morgan calling the action. The game will also re-air Sunday, Sept. 4 at 4:30 p.m. on Fox Sports Northwest, with Brian Davis and Sonny Sixkiller on the call. During the season, Husky games will air on FSN on tape delay Sundays at 3:00 p.m., except for the first two, which will be shown at 4:30 p.m. Additionally, "Husky Football All-Access" airs each Thursday at 7:00 p.m. during the season on Fox Sports. The program is an up-close look at each Husky game, with one-on-one interviews and sideline video.

RADIO: The Husky Sports Network, with its flagship station KJR 950-AM, will carry the live broadcast of every football game to five different states and British Columbia, Canada, on 26 different radio stations. Longtime play-by-play man Bob Rondeau and color analyst Chuck Nelson are joined by sideline reporter Elise Woodward. Most broadcasts will also be carried on XM Satellite Radio on channel 194, 195 or 196.

THE COACH: Tyrone Willingham was named Washington's 22nd head football coach on December 13, 2004. A former head coach at Notre Dame and Stanford, Willingham became the first African-American to serve as the Huskies head coach. While he brings an impressive resume with him to resurrect the Husky program, Willingham has acquitted himself well among his peers for much more than just fielding winning teams. Over the past 28 years Willingham has developed a coaching style that emphasizes toughness, enthusiasm, intelligence, discipline, commitment and unselfish play. The result has provided his players with more than just the opportunity to enjoy victories on the field. His guiding principles have prepared his players to be successful in life. Willingham, who turned 51 on Dec. 30, served as the head coach at Stanford (1995-2001) and Notre Dame (2002-2004) over the past decade. His Stanford teams enjoyed a 44-36-1 record while he was 21-15 with the Fighting Irish, including a 38-3 victory against Washington last season at Notre Dame Stadium. In his inaugural season with the Irish in 2002, he wasted no time reversing the tide of the Irish program, leading Notre Dame to a 10-2 regular-season record and a trip to the 2003 Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Fla. He was named Sportsman of the Year by The Sporting News after the 2002 season, while also picking up several national coach of the year awards. Prior to his tenure at Notre Dame, Willingham directed the Stanford program for seven seasons. In 1999, the Cardinal won the Pac-10 and earned a trip to the Rose Bowl for the first time since 1972, earning Willingham Pac-10 Coach of the Year honors. He also led the Cardinal to the 1995 Liberty Bowl, the 1996 Sun Bowl and the 2001 Seattle Bowl. Willingham, who grew up in Jacksonville, N.C., played both football and baseball at Michigan State, earning three letters in both sports and was awarded the Big Ten Conference Medal of Honor as the outstanding scholar-athlete in the league. He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at his alma mater in 1977 and, aside from his two previous head coaching stints, has served as a full-time assistant at Central Michigan, Michigan State, North Carolina State, Rice and Stanford, as well as with the Minnesota Vikings. Here's a look at Willingham's head coaching career:

PAC-10 DOUBLE DIP: Having spent seven seasons as head coach at Stanford, Tyrone Willingham becomes the second head coach in UW history (following his predecessor Keith Gilbertson, who also was the head man at Cal) to come to Washington after having been head coach at another Pac-10 school. In fact, it's relatively rare for a coach to have served in that capacity at more than one Pac-10 institution. In recent years, Bruce Snyder (California and Arizona State), Dennis Erickson (Washington State at Oregon State) and Larry Smith (Arizona and USC) have done it. Earlier examples include Tommy Prothro (Oregon State at UCLA) and Washington's own Leonard "Stub" Allison, who coached one season at the UW (1920) before eventually spending 10 seasons as Cal head coach (1935-44).

WILLINGHAM SELECTED FOR HULA BOWL: Tyrone Willingham will direct the West Team during the 2006 Hula Bowl scheduled for Jan. 21 at War Memorial Stadium on the island of Maui. Auburn's Tommy Tuberville will direct the East squad. Willingham will be assisted by San Jose State head coach Dick Tomey. The American Football Coaches Association's 2005 Division I-AA, Division II and Division III coach of the year winners will also serve as assistants in the game. This year's game will be the 60th edition of the all-star classic.

FIRST YEAR COACHES: While Tyrone Willingham is the Huskies' fifth head coach in the last 13 seasons, he's only the sixth UW head man over the last 48 years, dating back to Jim Owens' arrival prior to the 1957 season. Since then, the UW has been led by Owens (1957-74), Don James (1975-92), Jim Lambright (1993-98), Rick Neuheisel (1999-2002) and Keith Gilbertson (2003-2004). Here's a look at how the most notable Husky head coaches did in their first season at the helm:

Coach	1st Year	Overall	Conf.	Bowl?	Career Record at UW
Gil Dobie	1908	6-0-1	N/A	no	58-0-3 (1908-1916)
Enoch Bagshaw	1921	3-4-1	0-3-1	no	63-22-6 (1921-29)
James Phelan	1930	5-4	3-4	no	65-37-8 (1930-41)
Jim Owens	1957	3-6-1	3-4	no	99-82-6 (1957-74)
Don James	1975	6-5	5-2	no	153-57-2 (1975-92)
Jim Lambright	1993	7-4	5-3	no	44-25-1 (1993-98)
Rick Neuheisel	1999	7-5	6-2	Holiday	33-16 (1999-2002)
Keith Gilbertson	2003	6-6	4-4	no	7-16 (2003-04)

BOTH SIDES OF THE FIELD: Tyrone Willingham will get the opportunity to pull off the somewhat rare feat of coaching a matchup from both sides in consecutive years this season when the Huskies take on Notre Dame Sept. 24 at Husky Stadium. Last year, Washington traveled to South Bend, where Willingham's Irish squad handled the Dawgs in a 38-3 win. The situation, however, is somewhat familiar to Husky fans, however. In 1999, in the UW's third game under coach Rick Neuheisel, Washington beat Colorado (Neuheisel's former team), 31-24. However, the Huskies hadn't previously played the Buffs since the 1996 Holiday Bowl. Facing his former school will not be a new experience for Willingham. While at Notre Dame he coached against Stanford, his first stop as a head coach, and Michigan State, his alma mater.

WILLINGHAM vs. THE PAC-10: Thanks mostly to his time at Stanford, but also via frequent games vs. western teams while at Notre Dame, Tyrone Willingham has amassed a lengthy record against Pac-10 teams. Overall, Willingham is 47-28 against Pac-10 teams. Interestingly, his teams have struggled the most against Washington, as he's gone 1-6 against his new charges. Here's Willingham's record against each Pac-10 team: Arizona (2-3), Arizona State (4-3), California (7-0), Oregon (4-1), Oregon State (3-4), Stanford (3-0), UCLA (3-4), USC (4-6), Washington (1-5), Washington State (6-2).

COACHING STAFF: Washington's new coaching staff, under first-year head coach Tyrone Willingham, includes a number of names that might be familiar to more savvy Pac-10 football fans. Willingham, of course, spent seven seasons in charge of Stanford, where he'd previously served as an assistant (1989-91) for three seasons. And, two members of the Husky staff from last season were held over as well, lending more than a little familiarity. Defensive line coach Randy Hart is now working for his fifth different head coach as a member of the Husky staff while linebackers coach Chris Tormey, is beginning his 15th season at the UW, spread over three different stints. Aside from those three, several other UW coaches have experience in or around the Northwest. Defensive coordinator Kent Baer has coached in the Pac-10 at California, Arizona State and Stanford, as well as at Idaho. Spokane native Tim Lappano previously worked at Idaho, Washington State, California, Oregon State and with the Seattle Seahawks. Receivers coach Eric Yarber, an Idaho grad, has spent time at his alma mater, with the Seahawks and at Oregon State while Mike Denbrock (offensive line) and Trent Miles (running backs) both worked one season each at Stanford. Only tight ends/special teams coach Bob Simmons, the former Oklahoma State head coach, and defensive backs coach Steven Wilks can't trace their coaching roots through the Pac-10.

THE GAs: Washington's two graduate assistant coaches this season are Kyle Benn (offense) and Joey Hildbold (defense). Benn earned four letters as a center and was a captain on the 2001 team. That season, he was one of only two players named to the All-Pac-10 and Academic All-Pac-10 first teams. He is in his second season as a G.A. at his alma mater. Hildbold, a 2003 graduate of Notre Dame, was a punter for the Irish from 1999 to 2002. He was a two-time finalist for the Ray Guy Award, given to the nation's top collegiate punter.

WASHINGTON-AIR FORCE TIES: Not unexpectedly, there has been little crossover between members of the Washington and Air Force coaching staffs, largely due to the fact that much of the Air Force staff have worked at the Academy for a long time while no Husky assistants have ever worked there. However, Air Force's halfbacks coach, Tim Horton, was an assistant coach at Appalachian State from 1990 to 1998, meaning that he was part of a staff that coached UW defensive backs coach Steven Wilks, who was a DB at Appalachian State from 1987-91. On the players' side, according to its media guide roster, there are three Air Force players from Washington: sophomore defensive end Noah Garguile (Bremerton), senior wide receiver Greg Kirkwood (Othello) and sophomore center Blaine Guenther, who was a teammate of UW quarterback Johnny Durocher at Bethel High. There are, however, no Husky players from the state of Colorado. Husky head coach Tyrone Willingham has coached in one game against Air Force, leading Notre Dame to a 21-14 win in 2002.

SEASON OPENERS: Washington is 79-30-6 all-time in season openers, good for a mark of .713. Since 1989, Washington has posted a 9-6 record in season openers – 5-1 at home and 4-5 on the road. In that 15-season span, the Huskies have opened vs. a ranked team eight times: vs. No. 15 Stanford in 1993 (W, 31-14), at No. 17 USC in 1994 (L, 24-17), at No. 20 Arizona State in 1996 (L, 45-42), vs. No. 19 BYU in 1997 (W, 42-20) at No. 8 Arizona State in 1998 (W, 42-38), vs. No. 11 Michigan in 2001 (W, 23-18), at No. 12 Michigan in 2002 (L, 31-29) and at No. 2 Ohio State in 2003 (L, 28-9).

BOUNCING BACK: Last season, Washington saw its streak of 27 straight .500-or-better seasons come to an end as the Huskies finished 1-10 overall. The last time the Huskies finished under .500 was in 1976, the UW's second season under Coach Don James. That '76 team finished 5-6 overall and 3-4 (tie-4th) in the Pac-8. The following year, the Huskies won the conference and went to the Rose Bowl, going 10-2 overall (including the Rose Bowl win over Michigan) and 6-1 in conference play. Interestingly in 1977, the Huskies actually began the season 1-3 in four non-conference games. However, their season-opening loss to Mississippi State, as well as a loss to UCLA later in the season, were eventually forfeited to the UW thanks to use of ineligible players. Nonetheless, the UW won the conference title and the Rose Bowl the year after their most recent losing season. Washington hasn't posted back-to-back losing seasons since 1973 (2-9, 0-7) and 1974 (5-6, 3-4), the last two seasons of former coach Jim Owens' tenure at the UW.

TEAM NOTES

EXPERIENCE ABOUNDS: Washington's 2005 roster includes an unusually large number of experienced players and starters. Officially speaking, the Huskies return eight starters on offense, nine on defense and both their starting punter and kicker. That total of 19 (out of 24) starters returning is already high, but doesn't even take into account the even larger number of players that have started a few times and even more that have seen significant playing time. A total of 18 players on this season's roster started at least one game on offense last season and 15 current Huskies started at least once on defense in 2004. Along with the two specialists, that's a total of 35 players that started at least one game last year. The two lines are especially experienced. Washington returns nine lettermen on the offensive line (that group has totaled 18 letters combined) and a stunning 11 lettermen on the defensive line (17 letters total). Clearly, the Huskies' least experienced unit is the cornerbacks. Only one current player (Matt Fountaine) has ever made a start at corner as a Husky, and he's made only two, including one as a nickleback.

BREAKING DOWN THE NUMBERS: Washington's running backs (tailbacks and fullbacks) accounted for 1,203 net rushing yards last season. A total of six of the seven ballcarriers return from last year's team who had a rushing attempt. Combined, that group accounted for 1,141 rushing yards, or 95 percent of last year's total ground gain. The only non-returner among the running backs is fullback Zach Tuiaosopo, who signed a free agent contract with the Pittsburgh Steelers. The receiving corps features seven wide receivers and tight ends who had at least one reception in 2004. Husky wide receivers and tight ends caught 135 passes for 1,863 yards. UW's seven returners at those positions accounted for 75 of those catches (55 percent) and 1,131 (61 percent) of the receiving yards. The top loss among the receivers was TE Joe Toledo, who moved to offensive tackle last spring.

DECADE AFTER DECADE: Washington has won a conference title and a trip to the Rose Bowl in each of the last nine decades, dating back to the 1920s when Washington won the berth in 1923 and 1925. In the 1930s, the Dawgs won the '36 title. In the '40s, Washington earned the trip in 1943 and then barely slipped in under the wire in the 1950s, winning the 1959 crown. The Huskies won two Rose Bowl berths in the 1960s -- 1960 and 1963 -- and one in the 1970s (1977). Titles in 1980 and 1982 did it for that decade and three straight trips to Pasadena to begin the 1990s covered that 10-year span. Now in the 2000s, UW has become the first team to earn Rose Bowl berths in nine straight decades. USC joined the Dawgs in that distinction in 2004 after their New Year's Day appearance in Pasadena.

WINNING THE CLOSE ONES: In 72 Husky games dating back to the start of the 1999 season, the winning margin (for either side) has been seven points or fewer 25 times. In those 25 games decided by a touchdown or less, Washington is 16-10 and had won 10 straight before falling to Texas, 47-43 in the 2001 Holiday Bowl. Washington had lost three straight such games (Texas, Michigan, Cal) before a four-point win over Arizona on Oct. 12, 2002.

FINISHING FIRST OR SECOND: Despite a 10th-place finish in the Pac-10 in 2004, Washington has finished either first or second in the conference (including ties) in 18 of the last 28 seasons, dating back to a fourth-place finish in 1976. Over that span, Washington has won the championship (outright or shared) eight times -- 1977, 1980, 1981, 1990, 1991, 1992, 1995 and 2000 -- while finishing second 10 other times.

AGAINST THE RANKED TEAMS: Washington is 11-15 against top-10 teams since 1990. Also since 1990, the Huskies have gone 31-32-1 against top 25 teams. Here's a look at the Huskies' record against top-10 foes over the last 17 seasons:

Season	Opponent	Opp. Rank	W/L	Score	Site
2004	California	5	L	42-14	Seattle, Wash.
2004	USC	1	L	38-0	Los Angeles, Calif.

1991	Nebraska	9	W	36-21	Lincoln, Neb.
1990	USC	5	W	31-0	Seattle, Wash.

THE 100-YARD FACTOR: Since the 1947 season, Washington is 159-37-3 (.807) when a Husky player rushes for 100 yards in a game. The Huskies went 3-1 in such games in 2003 and 1-1 in 2004.

HISTORY LESSON: Successfully rushing the football and winning go hand-in-hand for the Huskies. Since 1990, Washington has rushed for 200 yards in a game 59 times. The Huskies' record stands at 54-5-1 (.908) in those contests. Since the 1995 season, Washington is 29-2-1 (.922) when rushing for 200 yards.

PLAYING AT HOME: Washington has gone unbeaten at home 13 times in its history, including six times in the last 15 seasons. Washington has won 73 of its last 94 (.782) games at Husky Stadium with one tie (73-20-1). Since 1980, the Huskies stand 121-31-2 (.792) at home. Since 1990, the Huskies are 47-14-1 (.766) at Husky Stadium vs. Pac-10 opponents.

HISTORIC HUSKY STADIUM: The 2005 season marks the 86th season of play in Husky Stadium. Original construction on the facility was completed in 1920 when Washington played one game in the new campus facility. Thanks to several major renovations, Husky Stadium's seating capacity has increased to its current total of 72,500. That makes Husky Stadium the 24th-largest college football venue in the nation. It is the 20th-largest on-campus facility in the country. UW's all-time record in Husky Stadium currently stands at 338-142-21 (.696).

HOPOI SACKING THE RECORD BOOKS: Defensive lineman Manase Hopoi returns for his senior season after having led the Pacific-10 Conference in tackles for loss last year. His 22 tackles for loss tied for second-most in UW single-season history (one behind Ron Holmes' 1983 total of 23). Those 22 TFLs were also good for fourth in the nation (he's second among players returning this year, behind only Mathias Kiwanuka of Boston College). Hopoi's nine sacks were fifth-most in the Pac-10 and 14th in the nation while also ranking tied for ninth in UW single-season history. Entering his senior season, Hopoi is only 58.5 yards short of the UW career tackles for lost yardage (Travis Richardson (1987-90), 268.5) and is eight quarter-back sacks behind Ron Holmes' career mark of 28 (1981-84). Finally, Hopoi has 49.5 career tackles for loss, good for third all-time and only 12 short of Jason Chorak's record of 61.5. Here are some top-five lists on which Hopoi ranks:

Career Tackles For Loss		Career Sacks
Rank	Name (Years)	TFLs	Rank	Name (Years)	Sacks
1.	Jason Chorak (1994-97)	61.5	1.	Ron Holmes (1981-84)	28.0
2.	Ron Holmes (1981-84)	51.0	2.	Donald Jones (1989-91)	26.0
3.	Manase Hopoi (2002-)	49.5	3.	Jason Chorak (1994-97)	25.5
4.	Mark Stewart (1979-82)	49.0	4.	Andy Mason (1990-93)	24.0
5.	Dave Hoffmann (1988-92)	56.0	5.	Manase Hopoi (2002-)	20.0

HOPOI ON OUTLAND, LOMBARDI LISTS: Washington senior defensive tackle Manase Hopoi has been named to the 36-player watch list for the 2005 Outland Trophy. The list of nominees was announced by The Football Writers Association of America. The Outland Trophy has been awarded to the best interior offensive or defensive lineman in college football since 1946. The winner is selected by the FWAA's All-America Committee, which selects the association's 25-man team and picks three Outland Trophy finalists. Hopoi is one of 123 players on the Lombardi Award watch list. The Lombardi Award, presented by the Rotary Club of Houston, is given to the nation's top lineman or linebacker. Hopoi was a second-

TOP TACKLERS RETURN: Washington welcomes back all three regular starting linebackers from last season. Outside linebacker Evan Benjamin was one of only five UW players (offense or defense) to start every game last season. Inside linebackers Joe Lobendahn and Scott White were also fixtures in the lineup as Lobendahn missed starting only once and White started nine of 11. All three of those players finished among the top six tacklers in the Pac-10 Conference. Lobendahn was third in the Pac-10 and tied for 20th in the nation with 10.0 tackles per game (100 total), Benjamin was fourth in the league and 34th in Division I-A at 9.5 per game (105) and White was sixth at 8.3 per game (83). Additionally, Lobendahn ranked seventh in the Pac-10 and 30th in the nation with 13.5 tackles for loss while Benjamin was first on the team and 10th in the Pac-10 with his three interceptions.

LOBENDAHN ON BUTKUS LIST: Washington linebacker Joe Lobendahn was one of 65 college linebackers named to the 2005 Butkus Award watch list. Lobendahn, from Honolulu, Hawaii, led the Huskies in tackles last season as a junior. His 10.0 tackles per game with third-most in the Pac-10 Conference and his 13.5 tackles for loss were seventh. The Butkus Award watch list will be trimmed to 10 semi-finalists on October 20. That semi-finalist list will be cut down to three finalists which will be announced via a national teleconference with players, coaches, media members and Butkus Award officials on November 10. The winner will be announced Saturday, December 10, 2005, at the Butkus Award Gala in Orlando. The award will be presented to the winner by the award's namesake, former University of Illinois and Chicago Bear NFL Hall of Fame member, Dick Butkus.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES

CAPTAINS: Washington will not have season-long captains this year. Instead, Coach Tyrone Willingham will name game captains each week. Each game's set of captains will be informed of the honor the Friday before each game. A list of each games captains will be compiled here.

HUSKY STADIUM RENOVATION: The Washington athletic department announced in June the international design firm of HOK Sport + Venue + Event has been chosen to complete a conceptual Intercollegiate Athletics Facilities Study, including potential improvements to Husky Stadium. The firm will work with the University's Capital Projects Office and the athletic department to establish relevant planning goals and objectives, analyze existing and future facility needs and develop a conceptual Athletics Master Plan. The scope of the project will include Husky Stadium, Graves Annex, Washington's existing athletic facilities and surrounding areas as well as proposed projects and venues, including the planned baseball/soccer complex. A significant portion of the study will focus on site planning and will examine vehicular and pedestrian circulation, landscape, signage and lighting, as well as coordination with the upcoming Sound Transit station to be located immediately west of the Stadium. HOK S+V+E will use the services of Conventions Sports & Leisure to conduct a Market and Financial Study for Husky Stadium's renovation. The study will determine demand for a variety of amenities and seating options, and will develop financial projections and funding options for a renovation of Husky Stadium. Husky Stadium currently has a seating capacity of 72,500. Constructed in 1920, it is the fifth oldest Division I football stadium.

THE SCHEDULE: The Washington football schedule includes several unique qualities this season. One is that the Huskies' opener, which is a road game vs. Air Force, will be played at Qwest Field in downtown Seattle, about six miles from Husky Stadium. That, coupled with the fact the Huskies' next three games in September are at home, means that the Dawgs won't have to play outside of the Emerald City until an Oct. 1 game at UCLA. After that game in Pasadena, and an off week Oct. 8, the Huskies will alternate road and home games over the final six weeks of the season.

FAMILY TIES: As is the case with most seasons of Husky football, there are a number of players on the Washington football team related to either current or former Huskies. Trenton Tuiasosopo and Kim Taylor are cousins, and are also cousins of former Huskies Marques and Zach Tuiasosopo as well as older sister, Leslie, a standout Husky volleyball player and now an assistant coach for the UW volleyball team. Sophomore Craig Chambers' older brother, Richie, was a starting linebacker for the Dawgs in the 1990s. Junior cornerback Matt Fountaine's older brother, Jamal, was a four-year letterman defensive lineman in the early 1990s at the UW. Kicker Evan Knudson is a half-brother of former Husky punter Channing Wyles. Linebacker Evan Benjamin's older sister, Paige, was an All-America volleyball player for the Huskies while sophomore guard Jason Benn's older brother Kyle, a center for the Dawgs from 1998-2001, is now a graduate assistant coach. Redshirt freshman Chris Rohrbach is the son of former UW linebacker Mike Rohrbach, who was a captain on the Huskies' 1977 Pac-10 champion team. Fullback Luke Kravitz' father Al, was a defensive end that lettered at the UW in 1970 and 1971. Defensive tackle Andy Heater's father, Chuck, was a Husky assistant coach from 1999 to 2003. Linebacker Brian Tawney's sister, Traci, played softball at the UW. Finally, safety Chris Hemphill and cornerback Roy Lewis are cousins.
